Weddings! – Symbol of Union of 2 Hearts. Riley Poole

Article published on June 11th 2012 | Wine

Wedding anniversaries are some of the most important yearly markers in American culture, and around the world. Weddings are symbols of union, of two different people and families coming together to form one unit. This is significant because it forms a family, which is the basis of society, and society is the influence of what we know, how we learn, and how we act and feel! Weddings also celebrate love and connectedness between two people, which can be one of the most sacred things in existence. This article will discuss engraved champagne as a gift for a wedding anniversary.

Dom Perignon champagne is a very nice type of gift for weddings because it is light, bubbly, and sparkles with brilliance – just like the married couple hopefully does. It is very tasteful, as well, and appeals to most people’s preferences. Dom Perignon is offered by certain companies which you can find online who sell it with engraved messages. You usually can find the bottle with a place for an engraved message, as well as two glasses which complete the gift set.

The married couple can celebrate their wedding anniversary the day of with the gift set, and then for years after, they will be able to pull it back out again and again, to remember both you as the gift-giver, and to build meaning through memories with the champagne and flute glasses. It is central for many individuals, as a life culmination. This all being said, when a couple makes it to a 25th wedding anniversary, to a 30th, 40th, and then 50th wedding anniversary, the event is commendable and worthy of major celebration!

There are of course other great wedding anniversary ideas. These marker years such as the 25th and the 50th anniversary deserve of honor and happiness, in which champagne plays an excellent role, especially when coupled with other things like a surprise party, a second honeymoon, a getaway for the couple, or some kind of relaxing retreat for the couple. There are tons of ideas, but champagne can always be added to others, or can stand alone as a celebratory gift.
