

Article published on June 19th 2012 | Writing

In this article, I wanted to tell you one of story of mine. I was in the third year of University, so we all had to give a proposal of final year project. This all had to done before entrance in to the final year, means in to the seventh semester.

In this article, I wanted to tell you one of story of mine. I was in the third year of University, so we all had to give a proposal of final year project. This all had to done before entrance in to the final year, means in to the seventh semester. We all were searching an innovative and creative topic for our proposal sitting into the computer lab. I was standing near the printer machine and was waiting for my printouts. Suddenly, a girl came and she came towards the printer machine and started to wait for the print outs. She was much beautiful and I was trying to move my eyes from her, but I was not able to keep control on my eyes.

I tried to talk her, but I was searching for the good start to talk her. Soon, I got the idea and then I asked her, "hey! Are you waiting for the printouts?" she said, "Yup! I sent my print outs from another lab but it's been 5 minutes and I did not get my print outs till yet." I wanted to talk her more, as her voice was much pretty. I offered her my account for printing papers and I said, "You can use my account over here, its ok." She said, "Thanks for the offer." Now, I came back to my seat and then I thought that my tried got failed. I turned around to see her, she was still waiting for the print outs. I stood up from my chair and then I waved her and also made gestures about the offer of my account. She smiled but did not respond. I continued my surfing for the project and suddenly she came and asked, "Is your offer still open?" I said, "Yeah sure, why not. Suppose that it's your own account I sent her print outs from my account and then I said, "You are junior. Right? So any time you have any query regarding anything, feel free to ask me." She asked my phone number. There was a copy in her hand bag, without asking I just wrote on her copy.

In the night I was waiting for her call. Finally, her call came and then she asked, "Is that Jack on the phone?" I asked, "Is that Barbie on the phone?" she laughed and then we started to talk with each other. She asked for the help of her assignment which she had to make. I agreed to help her and then I asked to send all the details of her project to me. I without asking her typed on "Google" how to write an essay. We know that, when we typed such key words, we receive many custom writing services that offer a facility of writing a college essay. I saw one website named dissertation writing services, so I placed the order in that company. When I received that done order then I sent that to that Barbie.

After one day, she asked me to meet at the coffee shop. I went there and then she thanked me and she also said that, "I like you and I feel comfort when I placed all the tensions of mine on your shoulder and the most loving part of this is that, you take my problems happily." I realized that, IN LOVE, WE SOMETIMES SIMPLY CARE FOR SOMEONE WITHOUT REASONS AND WITHOUT EXPECTING MUCH. JUST KNOWING THAT THE PERSON IS HAPPY AND SAFE, IS ENOUGH.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/writing-articles/we-sometimes-simply-care-for-someone-without-reasons.htm> - Article Side

Tiffany Parker - About Author:

a Writing a college essay is not so easy to accomplish on time. You must have searched the web about a how to write an essay. You should consult with reliable essay writing service who doesn't offer their services in essay writing only; they should provide a dissertation writing services also.

Article Keywords:

Writing a college essay, Essay writing service, How to write an essay

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!