Are you a person who never misses the cookery shows on the TV? You probably maintain a diary which has the schedule of all the world famous cookery shows along with their timing. And now the diary is almost half full with the finest of recipes of the world. You do not just stop at noting the intricate recipes meticulously in your diary in good hand writing. You also go ahead and try them out in your kitchen on the weekends and whenever time permits.

On the weekends you go through the recipes and decide which one you would like to try. Then you go on to gather and arrange for all the ingredients in perfect shape, size, color, flavor and quantity. You are meticulous about the whole process, and your family members say that you are even fussy at times, right from arranging for the ingredients to chop them in the right shapes and sizes, to boiling, mixing, frying, rolling all the ingredients to create the perfect dish. Your endeavor has been to capture all the dishes not only in perfect taste but also in perfect smell, color and looks. Your finishing touch is one of the finest and you are known for the garnishing and the presentation of the dishes as you are known for their tastes.

Now last Sunday when you had called over some guests for dinner, you prepared elaborate dishes for them. You had the yummy meat starters, the piping hot soups, the elaborate continental main course and the delectable deserts. And when one of the guests entered your kitchen to help you in cleaning up the dishes, she was amazed to see your kitchen too. Even after cooking such elaborate dishes the kitchen was spic and span. All the knives and cutting boards in proper place, the utensils and the cutlery arranged in their respective places and the kitchen even smelt good.

The guest who was a friend of yours even gave to a suggestion or two for getting quality kitchen accessories to make your work easier.
