The hottest new trend in nail fashions that you can help you to achieve a beautiful manicure is gel nail polish. There is a lot to be said about gel nail polish, and more and more women are requesting gel nails when they go to the salon. Typical manicures dry very slowly and smell awful. Gel nail polish, on the other hand, goes on with the stroke of a brush and is easy to remove with just a simple soak. Gel polish is applied using a special brush, and following the application of each layer, is cured using a special UV lamp.

Benefits of Gel Nail Polish

There are a number of advantages to using gel nail polish, even at home, over other formulas, even those fast-drying formulas that are billed as chip-resistant. The biggest benefit of using gel nail polish is that it dries super fast. Gel nail polish dries within a few minutes of application, due to the use of the UV light for curing it. This quick-dry feature makes putting on closed-toed shoes following a pedicure a simple matter. Curing lights are easy to use and safe. They will not burn your skin.

What's more, gel nail polish just lasts longer. It holds its shine and can last an amazing two weeks or longer without any chips or mars. That's an unbelievable amount of time for nail polish to last, which is why more and more gals are learning that they absolutely love gel. With the popularity of gel nail polish overshadowing traditional ones, Shellac, a well-known brand of hybrid gel and regular polish has been creating a trend that makes nail salons offering it the go-to for women who want the high-shine and incredible longevity of gel nail polish. The secret to the gel's anti-wear and tear feature is a carefully applied layer upon layer of polish, which is dried each time a new coat is painted on under a UV lamp. The UV light treats the gel polish, hardening it into a tough layer that doesn't easily come off.

And last of all, gel nail polish is so very versatile. Nearly any woman can use gel nail polish in the traditional manner that all nail polishes are used to paint the nails. With a little practice, however, most women can learn how to add length to their nails with just a few extra strokes of the brush. Choose a gel polish like Couture Gel Nail Polish in your favorite shade and experiment a bit to find out how gel nail polish can make your nails their prettiest and healthiest ever.

Buying Gel Nail Polish
