Giving gifts to loved ones can be a wonderful feeling, especially if you've gone that extra mile and created a personalised gift. Calendar printing is a great idea for creating a unique and special gift for friends and family.

Use calendar printing to create a calendar full of memories; with each month featuring a different photograph. Calendar printing makes for a meaningful, yet practical gift that can be enjoyed for a full 12 months. Calendar printing can also help you and your family get organised – important dates can be pre-printed on to the calendar so a birthday or anniversary is never forgotten!

Calendar printing is available for a range of calendar shapes and sizes. Wall hanging calendars are the most popular for calendar printing, and are available in A4, A5 or slim shapes. They can generally be produced in landscape or portrait format to suit your style. Other popular calendars used in calendar printing are desktop calendars and CD case calendars. Using calendar printing to create a personalised desktop calendar means the family can be taken to work and your desk can be personalised. CD case calendars are ideal corporate gifts for companies to send to their customers. Using calendar printing to personalise the calendar with corporate messages and contact details is a great way to keep your company details on someone's desk for a whole year.

An important part of calendar printing is choosing the right images. You may want to include a relevant photograph for each month – for February choose a past Valentine's Day image of you both for June select a favourite holiday snap and for December print a Christmas day shot. If your family is large, you may use calendar printing to focus each month on a different family member, especially if their birthday falls in that month. If you're struggling for images, most calendar printing companies will have stock images that you can upload to create an eye-catching and desirable calendar.
