At Cavan Vets we have the experience and the training to offer treatment for a range of pets and their disorders in Wolverhampton and nearby areas.

Our dedicated vets can provide the highest standard of healthcare for your pets.

Prevention is the best medicine, and for this reason we offer a full range of vaccines and other preventative animal health services. Vaccinations for new pets are essential. For example, puppies need vaccinations against Parvovirus, Distemper, Hepatitis, Parainfluenza, and Leptospirosis, before they can safely mingle with other dogs, and then annual boosters after that. Similarly, cats and dogs need routine treatment to stay free of fleas and worms, and we also suggest that they should be neutered.

Our vets offer exhaustive diagnosis procedures, and can offer ongoing and comprehensive treatment for a range of complex conditions, including advanced surgical procedures.

Our vets use hi-tech equipment and procedures to provide your pet with the best possible care, but we also work with compassion to provide a personal service on every case because we know that your pet is a member of your family. For this reason, we can offer home visits, in order to reduce the stress of a petâ€™s illness. Weâ€™ll keep you informed throughout the process of treatment, and offer yo all the information and support you need to make choices about your petâ€™s treatment.

In the event of accident or illness, we can offer your pet the very best healthcare, using the latest technology and procedures. As our team of vets has years of experience in all areas of animal health, you can be sure that your pet will be in safe hands.

We understand that caring for a pet can put a family under added financial strain, and for this reason we always aim to provide our vet service at transparent and affordable prices.

we make care and compassion our top priorities in nursing your pet back to health. We can, if necessary, offer home visits in order to reduce the amount of distress both your pet and you yourself must go through. Weâ€™ll keep you informed and offer you support throughout the process of treatment, so that you can make the right choices for your pet at every stage.
