Article published on May 7th 2012 | Music

Media is considered as one of the potent tools for communication. The meaning of this mode of communication is very well-understood in Abu Dhabi, the capital of the United Arab Emirates. Here in Abu Dhabi, media has become one of the fastest growing platforms that offer remarkable opportunities to UAE journalists. As a result of this, more and more students are enrolling themselves for various media courses in Dubai.

Keeping the interest and importance of media in mind, several media institutions have emerged here. These media institutes proffer different media courses in Dubai, thus the students can choose the one as per their skills and interest. The media programs are helpful in building some of the best UAE journalists who further assist in developing a better country.

Apart from media courses, these institutes also offer photography classes in Dubai. The structure of these photography classes in Dubai are specially designed keeping in mind the passion of students for photography. Moreover, both theoretical as well as practical classes are offered by the institutions so that students get vast knowledge about photography. Another best media program is TV production. With the emergence of media institutions learning TV production in UAE has become an easy task.

Main objectives of media courses in Dubai

*To represent media as a possible carrier option

*To teach the basics of media

*To enlarge students view for their social, cultural and intellectual perspectives

*To raise the creativity level in students

*To develop enhanced communication skills in students

*Provide an open and motivating platform to students for discussion and deliberation

*To give a strong base in almost every area of media

*To boost the confidence in students and motivate them be a dynamic part in the rapidly growing global media activities

These are the few main objectives of media institutions in Dubai.

In order to motivate the youngster to be an active part of media in Dubai, Abu Dhabi Music & Arts Foundation (ADMAF) has taken the initiatives in form of Abu Dhabi Music and Arts Festival. Through this festival, ADMAF tries to connect people from different backgrounds who soak themselves in soothing musical performances, fabulous art exhibitions and educational programs.
