Article published on January 7th 2012 | Others

It is a great privilege for someone to be chosen to be the best man for the wedding. However, this honor comes with several huge responsibilities which include delivering best man speeches in front of a large crowd. The pressure on the best man will not only on how he will face the crowd but also on not to say anything that can ruin the entire wedding reception program. But you donâ€™t have to worry if itâ€™s your first time to deliver best man speeches. Here are some tips to help you create your own and deliver the most memorable best man speeches for the bride and the groom.

Making or writing your best man speech just needs a little creativity on your part. Coming up with a good speech is not as hard as it may seem, just think about how you can wish the newly wed couple the best for their marriage.

Begin your best man speeches by giving a little background about yourself. This is to give the other guests an idea about who you are. A way to do this is by giving your name and your relationship to the groom. You can say if youâ€™re the groomâ€™s brother or the best friend. You can also read a short quote about marriage or throw a little joke in the beginning just to lighten up the mood and get the attention of all the people in the reception hall. Donâ€™t forget to thank the host of the program and the parents of both the bride and groom before you go too far in your speech.

It is also alright for the best man to carry some notes about his best man speeches. Itâ€™s much better to glance once in a while on your notes than to stare blankly while trying to remember what you have to say. A funny story about the groom is always a sure hit, just try to choose a good funny story and not something humiliating. As the best man, everyone is expecting that you know some background about the relationship of the bride and groom, so feel free to share some things you remember while the groom is still courting the bride and when they were dating. Try to keep your best man speech short as it can be too dragging and there may be other people who will still have to give their regards to the couple. In your entire speech, try to highlight both the bride and groom. A heartfelt and sincere message will never go wrong.

Towards the end of your speech, you can add another inspiring quote or a wish for the bride and groom. You can also end you best man speeches by raising your glass and end it with a traditional toast.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/others-articles/tips-on-delivering-best-man-speeches.htm - Article Side

Carina Coronel - About Author:
If you are looking for a best man speeches, you can search the web since there is a vast of information about a speeches for best man. You can use any of the a best man speech that you will find.

Article Keywords:

best man speeches,speeches for best man,best man speech

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!