

Article published on March 20th 2012 | Software

Protect flash drive is important

Flash drive is convenience stuff, because you can take it to anywhere, any place as you want. But for many people, the flash drive is not protected with password. After all, all the entire important data store on flash will be leak out, like insurance information, contacts, ID number, documentâ€™, if you lost the flash or get stolen. Anyone who plugs it into their computer could get instant access to all the documents and data it contains.

The solution to password protect flash drive

If you donâ€™t password flash drive, it is very risk. So you need a password protect flash drive software to protect you flash drive secure by making it look empty to anyone who hasn't got the password. It uses state of the art 256-bit encryption which basically means even with the world's most powerful computer it won't get cracked any time soon.

Recommend password protect flash drive software idoo password protect flash drive software is an advanced flash drive protect software that allows you to make sure even most valuable data cannot be comprised on your flash drive. The users will not even be able to see the physical presence of that information, which means it will be as secure as if it was in your own safe, with no one around having a clue what you are storing there. Encrypting and protecting your file include office, excel, important documents secure on flash drive.

Step by step to password your flash drive

Before creating password protect flash drive, you should backup your files on flash drive to hard drive or other devices. Because the software will format your USB stick before usb encryption!

Just four 4 steps to protect your flash drive with, free download it first.

First install the software

Step 1. Insert the flash drive that you want to password protect into the USB port of your computer.

Step 2. Choose the flash drive and set the size of encryption area will be created, and click "install" to input user name and password.

Step 3. Click "Yes" button to start creating encryption area to protect flash drive.

Step 4. Click "Ok" button to successful to finish the job.

After that, you can password protect flash drive will, no one can access your private data without your permission, even you lost it or get it stolen.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/software-articles/how-to-password-protect-on-usb-flash-drive.htm> - Article Side

Evan Nasser - About Author:

How to a Password Protect USB Drive More info: a USB Encryption Software.

Article Keywords:

password protect flash drive, password flash drive, protect usb flash drive

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!