Indian Railway takes you to otherwise unexplored sites and rail conveyance can cover a lot more countryside than any other mode of transportation available. It is continuously working to offer best possible services not only to the Indian passengers but also to the visitors who come to explore our country. You will be glad and proud to know that Indian railways is the world's biggest and busiest railway network and covers 63, 140 route kilometers covering all the directions of the country.

The Indian Railways were divided under categories to smooth the progress of management and functionality and even though the booking system for Indian Railways is centrally computerized, managing such a huge network can be challenging and hence the Indian Railways decided to introduce online railway ticket booking to make booking of railway tickets easier and more convenient. The special benefits of using the online Indian railway tickets facility is that passengers can reserve their tickets from the comfort of their home or office without having to stand in long queues at railway stations or having to take the trouble to go to a travel agent. An railway ticket can be done up to 90 days before your desired date of departure, but it is advised to plan your journey way ahead as the availability of tickets can be difficult, especially during vacation and wedding season. An online railway can be made right till the final reservation chart is made that is six hours before the train leaves the station. The person in whose name the online booking has been made needs to produce an identity document along with the print out of the ticket during the course of his journey like PAN card, Voter ID card or Drivers license. Passengers can check Indian railways reservation seat availability by visiting the official website of Indian railways like IRCTC, or indianrailways.gov.in or any online authorized agent's website. If you already have an account maintained with IRCTC than you just need you log in enter train number. Journey date, source station code, destination station code, seat class, quota to be availed and just a click and your railway ticket will be produced to your desired destination of your choice.

So just get ready to indulge into the comforts of Indian railways as it is the cheapest and safest mode of transport in India as it will take you to even those places where other transport cannot reach.
