Article Side

Customization with joomla websites by Kimberly Penney

Article published on April 6th 2012 | Web Design

Joomla is an free content management system (CMS). A Joomla website has a default template. The template decides how the website looks and also plays a role in its functionality. Joomla's default templates are fine for general use. But for websites with a commercial goal, the default template design is not enough. Joomla is getting utilized by companies and professionals to build websites. Each Joomla website is competing for attention in the own market. This has resulted in an excuse for customization to get a unique look and functionality.

Custom Joomla Templates

Joomla makes it fairly easy to exchange the default templates with custom templates designed by organizations. In most cases a basic knowledge of installing templates is enough. Most free templates are easy to install and employ. Some highly customized templates may require professional support and installation help due to their complexity. Templates can be found from the simple to the complex. There are free and commercially accessible versions.

Free Joomla Templates

There are plenty of resources available on the web offering Joomla website design templates free of charge. The upside is they have the freedom, are downloadable having a click and may be played around with. Some are very good even for commercial websites. The downside is no professional support, no customization, hidden costs whether it messes up your website.

Paid Joomla Templates

There are professional Joomla website designer who offer custom-designed Joomla Templates for a price. This includes installation, professional support and a look and feel matching your requirements. That upside is that it's possible to have highly customized templates, have the ability to tweak them as per requirements and get professional support. However the cost for the template and support.

Qualities to consider in paid Joomla templates

Look & Feel - Does the template meet your needs design wise? The best choice would be to have a template it is simple to tweak according to your requirement.

Functionality - Does the template offer the functionality you are looking for?

Ease of Use - Is it simple to tweak the code to create changes as you wish. The template should provide the flexibility to change your final layout.

Code Readability - This is important should you or your programmer really wants to go deep and customize the code for any specific requirement.

Customer Support - Does the template provider provide you with professional support for the template? Highly customized templates could be complex and want customer support.

Cross Browser Compatibility - This is a must if you are using paid professionally designed templates.

You can easily setup a high quality, professional looking website with Joomla CMS because of the ease that custom templates may be used.

In short the website design work becomes quite easy ad effective with the Joomla Web Design templates. Ever a person with no knowledge and base at website designing can create his own website. And this has offered an affordable option for the website design services.

To have professional joomla web design services log on to: http://www.visagemarketinggroup.com

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/web-design-articles/customization-with-joomla-websites.htm - Article Side

Kimberly Penney - About Author:
Kimberly Penney is an SEO Expert working and content writer who has written many articles on a Joomla Web Design, a Joomla Website designer and a Volusion API.

Article Keywords:
Joomla website designer, joomla website design, joomla web design

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!