

Article published on March 1st 2012 | Web Design

There are many people who access the internet through mobile phone thus one should design a different kind of mobile website for them. This website should be a compressed version of the original website. These mobile websites must also be linked to various social networking websites. Many people access the internet through mobile, thus it very important for today's website designers to create the mobile website also. There are many companies which have created different kind of website when one accesses through mobile from the one when one access through laptop or personal computer. The mobile website will be much prÃ©cised as compared to the normal one. The reason the mobile website is less complicated is because the user is accessing the website from mobile which doesn't have a larger view as compared to the screen of the PC and laptop. Also the data packages used in the mobile website will be less. Even the animations and various kinds of advertisements will be less or one might not even find the advertisements while accessing through mobile.

The mobile website should be such that it should give the overview of the original website and must be a smaller version of it. There are many kinds of websites which have not gone for the smaller version but they stick to the same version even if one accesses the internet through mobile. It depends on the website owner to decide about it. Also one must note that if someone is accessing the original size website through the mobile phone it will take a longer time to open. Therefore the website owners where people visit the website on regular basis usually opts for the mobile websites to make sure that people can access it easily.

Also while designing the website for the mobile phones one should keep in mind that the background must not be too heavy as if takes a longer time the visitor might close the website without having a look at it. The website should be designed in such a manner that people can easily access it which means that it should be user friendly. There are many kinds of mobile websites where the people find it difficult to understand the various sections so made. One should make a website keeping in mind the perspective of the visitor and the things he or she might be interested in.

Another way to make sure that people visit your website is that they should link it with different kinds of social networking websites so that the various updates on it should be displayed in their message or notifications box. The choice of the keyword is also important in deciding the type of website to be made.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/web-design-articles/mobile-website-should-be-a-compressed-version-of-original.htm> - Article Side

Peter Colan - About Author:

Author knows in detail about the type of a mobile website development which should be made. Here the author shares information on a mobile websites. For more information visit www.mometro.com

Article Keywords:

mobile website, mobile phone website, best mobile site, mobile website design, make a mobile website, design mobile website, make mobile website, how to make mobile website, build mobile website, creating a mobile website, mobile website development

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!