

Article Side

Why Joomla for an Alluring Website? by Amy Thomas

Article published on February 14th 2012 | Web Hosting

People today are looking at building their own website for many reasons. Sometimes they might wish to have a small website for their personal use or sometime they may wish to have a blog for themselves. Sometimes business needs ecommerce site to be hosted. But for some reason this doesn't work for many. The main reason would include the cost of having a web designer to design the site and having a technical expert to maintain the site further. When this is the problem all that you can do is to choose Joomla hosting.

Joomla is the best visual content management system (CMS) that is a widespread choice with both web design experts and laypersons. It helps in building complex sites very effectively within very less duration. The specialty of the technology is that it does not need technically sound persons to work with it. Here are some reasons that will urge you to choose Joomla to design your website:

Joomla is an Open Source System

The Joomla solution is free. This means that you do not have to pay anything to use this software. At the same time you should not devalue the time and effort that is essential for a high quality web project. Though the software is free the web designer needs some time to build the requirement for your website on the open source software. The software is for free and you need to be paying a few bucks for the developed requirements. Hosting will also cost you some bucks. But there are reliable companies that offer free Joomla Hosting as well. But you can reduce the cost of using the software with Joomla which is unavoidable with certain other software.

Features Can Be Added Even By Amateurs

This software is so flexible that it doesn't need any expertise knowledge to add features to the system. Anyone can do it by working with the core technology. This helps the technology grow all the time.

Ease of Use

CMS stands for content management system and the prime responsibility of CMS is to maintain content. All companies with websites cannot afford to have a person hired to just update the content. With Joomla even the website owner can update the content easily without having to disturb the layout of the site. This ease of use of the software has made the software still more popular.

Feature Rich CMS

Joomla provides features that are not provided by most of the other CMS software. Joomla has extensions and modules that are designed to enhance the features of Joomla as a CMS. These extensions are not really less in number. There are more than thousands of extensions to add to the functionality of Joomla.

Supports Complex Design

With extensible features of Joomla can support any kind of sophisticated designs. Joomla templates can help you make even this complex job easy and make your website look professional. Equally, it is used by persons considering creating a site of their own that stands out from the multitude.

Thus with Joomla you can enjoy the fun of building your site on your own by embedding your likes and thoughts to it.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/web-hosting-articles/why-joomla-for-an-alluring-website.htm> - Article Side

Amy Thomas - About Author:

a Joomla Hosting

a Free Joomla Hosting

Article Keywords:

Joomla, Joomla Hosting, free Joomla Hosting

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!