Things to remember while writing an essay â€“

The most important part of your essay is topic selection. If there is the scarcity of topics, you should devote your time in brainstorming.

Steps involved in Brainstorming:-

To start a brainstorming session, you should select a topic. After deciding a topic, next we have to call a group of people who are interested in subjects related to the topic. Or we can call those people who can give good ideas. When a group is called for brainstorming session, you have to give them an idea and encourage their creative thinking.

As ideas can give birth to more new ideas and solutions, we should encourage each person to give their contribution. When our thoughts become free, it will become easy for us to come up with better solutions. When we encourage for a widespread participation and involvement, each participant will feel like they are an important member of the group, their ideas and solutions are respected and valued. This will make them to contribute thoughtful and valuable contribution.

By getting involved in a brainstorming session, you will feel that itâ€™s a pretty easy process. You donâ€™ have to be a genius to become involved in a brainstorming session. But those who conduct brainstorming session should take control of the situation. This will help to stick to the topic; otherwise there is a chance to go beyond the subject. Usually the group gathered for a brain storming session can find it as a fun and exciting process. When people find it an exciting process, they will start giving ideas without much delay. This will help us to gather ideas in a speedy manner and moving towards the goal, the solution.

If brainstorming session didnâ€™t give you the expected results, then consider the following exercises to negate writers block -

Seek help from friends, colleagues or parents - As your parents are more experienced than you and know you more than others, they can give you a better suggestion. You can even ask your friends on your phone with service from providers like Time Warner Phone.

Read sample essays - Reading essays can give you good ideas for your topic. By going through essays written by others, we can understand different ways of writing. This will help us to develop our own writing style.

Childhood experiences - The interest that you shown in your childhood day activities will be the most defining pars of your life, even if you recently lost that interest. Analyze the reasons for that childhood interests and how they helped in nurturing you.

After completing the first step, your next step is to finalize a topic. In this stage you should have a rough idea of elements that should be included in your essay. This can include your goals, important incidents in the life, good experience with people, research experience, nonacademic accomplishments etc.

By this time use you may have selected your topic. So we will move to the third step. In this step, you have to decide about the approach of writing and the conclusion part. With an innovative approach even a boring topic can be into an exceptionally good one. That means, the essay should be written in a way, where people who read should feel that itâ€™s original. You can also adopt answer and question mode of writing in an essay.

Itâ€™s the introductory paragraph that give people an idea about the essay and its quality. So you should be very careful while writing an introduction. You must use your introduction to grab readerâ€™s interest from the beginning. Then every paragraph in the essay should have some connection with the introduction. And the last part is the conclusion. The conclusion part is your last chance to persuade the reader or gain a good impression about you. So you should be utmost careful while drafting a conclusion part.
